DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-23 are allowed. Claims 24-32 are cancelled.

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Eric Stephenson on 03/12/2007.

3. The application has been amended as follows:

A. In the claims:

- a. Claims 24-32 are cancelled
- b. Claim 1. (Currently Amended) (Currently Amended) A method, comprising:
a server sending an identification to a synchronization client executing on a handheld device, wherein the identification relates to a database version; the synchronization client comparing the identification received from the server with a locally stored identification;

the synchronization client sending a first message to the server if the identification does not compare equally with the locally stored identification; in response to receiving the first message, the server sending a size of binary information to the synchronization client;

the synchronization client comparing the size of the binary information with an amount of storage available in the handheld device;

Art Unit: 2154

the synchronization client sending a second message to the server if the synchronization client determines that the amount of storage available in the handheld is greater than the size of the binary information in response to the server receiving the message, the server compressing the binary information prior to transfer; the server encoding the compressed binary information using a text encoder prior to transfer; and the server encoding the text encoded information prior to transfer according to a protocol associated with a connection between the server and the synchronization client.

c. Claim 9. (Currently Amended) An apparatus, comprising:

means for comparing an identification with a locally stored identification, wherein the identification relates to a database version;

means for sending a first message if the identification does not compare equally with the locally stored identification; means for sending a size of binary information to a handheld device in response to receiving the first message; means for comparing the size of binary information and an amount of storage available in the handheld device; means for sending a message to a server if the size of binary information is ~~greater~~ less than the amount of storage available in the handheld device;

means for compressing the binary information prior to transfer to the handheld device; means for text encoding the compressed binary information prior to transfer to the handheld device; and means for encoding the text encoded information prior to transfer to the handheld device according to a protocol associated with a connection between the server and the handheld device.

d. Claim 17. (Currently Amended) A machine-readable medium having stored thereon a plurality of instructions that when executed by a server cause the server to perform operations comprising:

sending an identification to a handheld device, wherein the identification relates to a database version comparing a size of binary information and an amount of storage available in a handheld device in response to the server receiving information from the handheld device that identifies the amount of storage available in the handheld device and in response to the server receiving a first message from the handheld device indicating the identification does not compare equally to a locally stored identification; in response to determining that the amount of storage in the handheld device exceeds the size of the binary information, compressing the binary information prior to transfer to the handheld device;

encoding the compressed binary information using a text encoder; and encoding the text encoded information prior to transfer to the handheld device according to a protocol associated with a connection between the server and the handheld device.

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Applicant's arguments that neither Multer, Smith or Inoue disclose are persuasive as presented in response dated 01/08/2007 along with the other claim limitations as well as the Examiner's amendments stated above. None of the prior arts of record teach or suggest the claimed limitations.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Ashok B. Patel whose telephone number is (571) 272-3972. The examiner can normally be reached on 8:00am-5:00pm.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Nathan Flynn can be reached o If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Nathan J Flynn can be reached on (571) 272-1915.
